Indian Lecturer To Speak At Annual Home Bureau Meet

"Stop Being Afraid and Live Longer" is the subject of the Lecture to be presented by Sky-Eyes during the afternoon program at the Will County Home Bureau's annual meeting Sept. 30 at the Lockport Congregational church.

It is a serious sort of program, but a load of humor is included. A method of eliminating man's fears, resulting in a happier life, will be effectively presented by this noted American Indian lecturer from Chicago, who has made over 8,000 successful appearances in the United States, Canada and England. Education, experience, variety, music, wit and humor blend to make Sky-Eyes one of the most dynamic personalities on the platform today. She has captivated large audiences with her serious message interspersed with keen wit and authentic Indian songs.

This lecture is thought-provoking and very appropriate with the present universal feeling of fear which robs 90% of our people of health, harmony or happiness.

She promises a constructive, entertaining, worthwhile program, filled with humor and good cheer, and it is hoped that a two-day group of Home Bureau members will be in attendance to hear her.

The morning program will consist of reports by the various committees, roll call of units, community singing, recreation, by a luncheon to be served at and election of officers, followed noon by the ladies of the church. Reservations are to be made at the Home Bureau office by Sept. 27. The afternoon program will include the installation of officers.

Ezra Benson Makes Surprise Visit At Lincoln-Way H.S.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson took a quick look at the new Lincoln-Way high school in a surprise visit last Friday, Sept. 17. His stop-over occurred on the way to Olney, enroute to the National Plowing Contest there. Benson had requested the opportunity to see a rural, consolidated school in action.

Benson told two school reporters - Shirley Tarrant of New Lenox and Karen Piepenbrink of Frankfort - both 17 year old seniors, that they were fortunate to be able to attend such a school. He said he was pleased when Vo-Ag teacher Robert Van Rheeden told him that approximately ten per cent of the schools enrollment of 402 were taking "Ag" courses.

After touring parts of the large school, which draws students from over 93 square miles of rural area, Benson was ushered into the gym where most of the students had quickly assembled. A speech had not been scheduled however Benson addressed the students for about five minutes.

He said that he was impressed by the green fields of the county and its obvious agricultural prosperity. "But as we drove along, I could not help thinking that the greatest asset of this country is not its cornland, dairy herds or beef cattle. The greatest asset is you, yourselves," Benson told the students.

School board president Albert H. Krusemark of Frankfort pointed out the various features of interest to Benson, while Principal A. Hunter Chapman escorted the group on the tour of the school.

From the school Benson's party drove to Iroquois county where they toured the 160 acre dairy farm of 26 year old Richard Muehling.

MOTHERS DAY POEM ENDS A 24 YEAR SEARCH

When Mrs. Elizabeth Askin 65, of Newcastle England, stepped from the TWA plane at Midway airport, she was greeted by her son William H. Hardwick, 43, of 4715 Aberdeen St., Chicago, and Mrs. Maude Nolte, 37, of 16902 Oak Park ave., in Tinley Park, ending a search that started 24 years ago.

According to Hardwick, his father separated from his mother in England in 1919 and in 1926 brought his three children to Chicago. Later the parents were divorced and the father refused to tell the children anything about their mother.

They knew that she was somewhere in England and Hardwick wrote dozens and dozens of letters to friends in England in an effort to locate her. He wrote a Mothers day poem, and sent it to the London Daily Mirror with a letter requesting help in finding her.

Within ten days he received a message that she had been located by a reported in Newcastle, which is 80 miles from London. He and Mrs. Nolte pooled their savings to arrange for their mother's passage and visa.

They and their families met Mrs. Askin at the airport Sunday after she was flown in by TWA. The party went directly from the airport to Louie George's restaurant in Chicago where a big welcome awaited them. Reporters were also waiting for them there. Mrs. Askin, an arthritic invalid, who has had a very hard life kept saying that they were too good to her and that they were spoiling her.

Monday evening the entire family met at the Nolte home for a roast beef dinner, a special treat for Mrs. Askin as she was seldom able to have such in England. It was also a celebration of Grandmother Nolte's 80th birthday. In addition to making headlines in papers in this country they received several calls from London from reporters wanting more information for their papers in London.

There was a goodly delegation of Mokena people from St. John's church who attended the dedica-

The new fuel consists of 20-25 per cent amyl nitrate (a new diesel fuel additive), lubricating oil and straight run gasoline. It is said to be superior to any model engine fuel used so far.

BLUE ISLAND RAILROAD DAYS ARE OCT. 1, 2, 3

Blue Island, a railroad town by occupation of many of its inhabitants, and home of three railroad yards, terminals, and other installations, is staging its second annual railroad days on October 1, 2 and 3 under the auspices of the Blue Island Chamber of Commerce.

Not only the several thousand inhabitants who normally wear railroad costumes in their jobs, but the rest of the citizenry will also be so attired.

There will also be a contest for the best mustache and sideburns grown by the menfolk and for the best decorated window display in the stores.

Streets will be decorated by railroad banners and flags and on Saturday night, October 2, there will be a torch light parade with railroad themes carried out by floats and marching units. Railroad switchmen will direct traffic with lanterns and flares. Awards will be presented to the best entries.

Sunday night as the climax, there will be a Gandy Dancers' Hop at Eagles Hall at which Tony Kay and his 8 piece orchestra will play. Not only will there be free admission, but also 20 awards will be presented.

Meanwhile, Blue Island merchants are handing out "Railroad Greenbacks" for every dollar purchased in the co-operating stores during September. These "Greenbacks" carry coupons in connection with the awards.

Lloyd C. Holmlin, executive secretary of the Blue Island Chamber of Commerce, is seeing that the inhabitants brush up on their railroad lingo. Railroad "gumshoes" are to be in the suburb each of the three days to ask citizens the definition of various railroad terminology, and those who do not know will be "ticked" and hauled before Police Magistrate Henry Gentile in a special railroad court to be held afternoons in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Those who wish to avoid wearing mustaches, sideburns and questions may receive an "empty ticket" for a dollar from the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor John M. Hart urges all citizens of Blue Island to participate in Railroad Days.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Divorce proceedings against Cleborn Lambert have been started in Circuit court by Mrs. Mary Lambert of Mokena who is charging cruelty.

They were married Oct. 28, 1950 and have two children. Mrs. Lambert is asking custody of the children and half of the $895 which Lambert removed from the bank.

A million workers would have to toil more than a year to make up for the time lost in 1952 due to occupational accidents, according to the National Safety Council.

"Accident Facts," the Council's statistical yearbook just off the press, shows that the time lost last year as a result of work injuries amounted to 250,000,000 man-days. This includes not only time lost by the employees who were injured, but also that lost by those who stopped work to help the injured or out of curiosity.

Fifteen thousand workers were killed and 2,000,000 injured in 1952, according to the Council, but last year still was one of the safest years in history for the nation's industries.

One dollar out of every four in the nation's income is being taken by the Federal government to help pay bills, and despite this heavy taxation the public debt is increasing, the "Indianapolis News" pointed out in an editorial on governmental paternalism.

OIL FOR ELECTRICITY

Petroleum products play a key part in the generation of electric current. Power and distribution transformers used by central stations and large industrial plants are filled with oil which acts as a cooling and insulating medium. Power transformers may contain up to 18,000 gallons of oil.

Sandburg Eagles Drop First Game at Elmhurst by 32-1

Carl Sandburg's Eagles were defeated in their first football game of the season by Immaculate Conception at Elmhurst last Saturday by a 31 to 2 score. The two points were collected when Jay Morlock tackled an Elmhurst player in the end zone for a safety, thus scoring two points. Warm weather and a good cheering crowd gave Sandburg's

Eagles a good backing for this non-conference game.

Dave Anderson kicked off for Sandburg in the first quarter and Elmhurst scored by an end run in the period. The quarter ended with I.C. out ahead 6-0. During the second quarter the opponent scored two touchdowns and made one extra point on the kick. At the half the score was 19-0, I.C. favored.

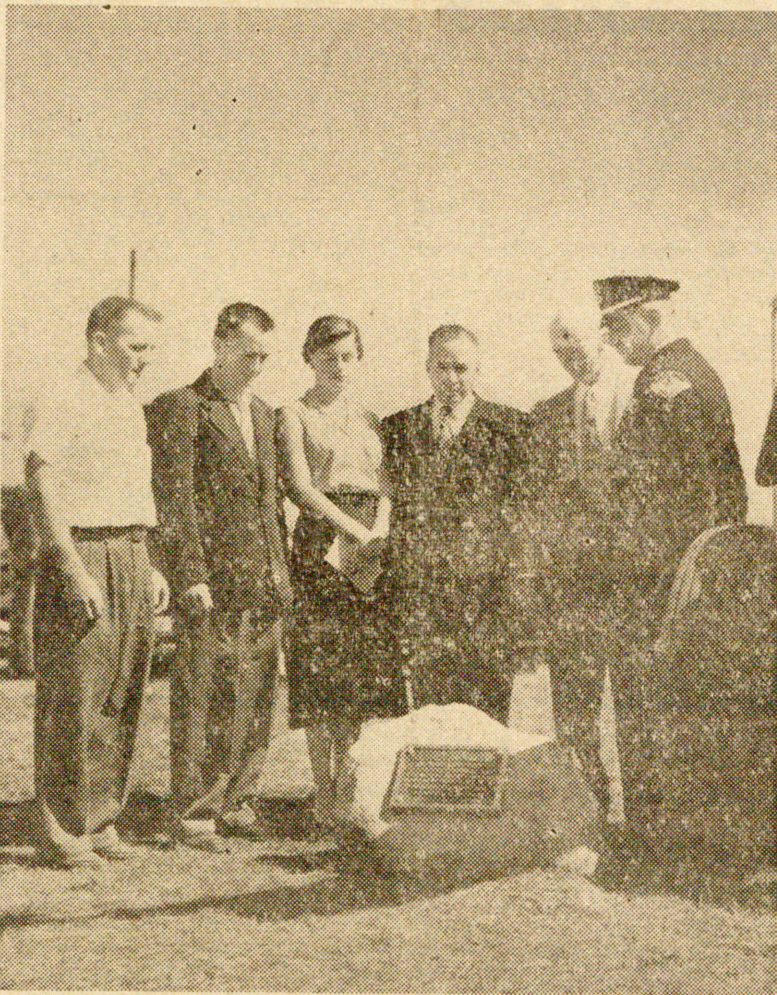

The only score for Coach Devine's Eagles came in the third quarter when Jay Morlock tackled an Elmhurst player in the end zone for a safety thus scoring two points. Trouble, however, came when Bob Kaehr broke his arm while tackling one was within one yard of the goal of Elmhurst's players. Sandburg line on its last down when Elmhurst took possession of the ball. The score at the end of the quarter was 25-2.

In the final period Elmhurst added one more touchdown but failed to make the kick. Final score was 31-2.

Before game time Tom Larson was chosen team captain of the varsity squad. Varsity team members are Steve Johannes 10, Bill Ruppert 11, Jay Morlock 12, Larry McBurney 16, Bob Kaehr 17, Jim Gray 18, Paul Goliath 19, Paul Whennan 20, Dave Bush 21, Ron Schneid 22, Tom Lonson 23, Wayne Clayton 25, Dave Vance 27, Ron Sanderson 28, Bill Grieve 29, Dave Anderson 30, Jack Czarnesky 31, Butch Manckins 32, Ernie Kanak 33, Chuck Willeford 34, Bonnie Partol 36, Al Herbster 37.

The only touchdown in the games Saturday was made by Pat Flavin in the Fresh-Soph. game. The final score of this game was 19-6 in favor of Elmhurst I.C.

Dedicate Zimmerman Baseball Diamond

The above picture shows Fred and James Zimmerman and their sister Mrs. Logan Rick pictured viewing memorial dedicated to their father Raymond after whom baseball diamond number one at

On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 12 a baseball game between the Sportsmen's club and the Old Timers on baseball diamond number one at Memorial Park in Tinley Park opened the dedication ceremony of that diamond and a bronze plaque naming it the Frederick Ray Zimmerman Baseball Diamond. Mr. Zimmerman passed away July 26th. He was one of the organizers of the Tinley Park Sportsmen's club and was well known for his activity in coaching baseball teams in Tinley Park and doing all he could to organize baseball teams to provide recreation for the young people.

With the gifts that have been received toward a memorial fund it is planned to purchase equipment and bleachers to be installed on this field under the supervision and direction of Frank Jeffords, president of the board of trustees of Tinley Park, Harold Moore, police chief, and Joseph McCarthy, Trustee.

Lincoln-Way Bows To Wilmington 70-0

Wilmington's Wildcats chewed their way through Lincoln-Way to the tune of 70-0 after a 19 point first quarter. The Lincoln-Way eleven lost its first athletic contest since the school was opened this year, as John Howard, Ricky Anderson and Don Welch scoring touchdowns for Wilmington, with Cliff Craig converting four times and adding another touchdown.

Lincoln-Way gridders at the start of the season are Ends - Bailey and Elliot, tackles - Heidrich and Follers, guards - Weber and Hauck; center - Schulenberg; quarterback - Hughes; halfbacks - Studnicke and Francis and fullback - McMann.

27th OIL STATE

North Dakota recently became the 27th state to produce crude oil in commercial quantities. The first well came in at a rate of 350 barrels of high-gravity crude daily. An indication of how recent is North Dakota's emergence as oil territory can be seen in the fact that in 1942 little or no land in the state was under lease while today more than half of the state's 45 million acres are under lease to oil companies.

BABSON SAYS—

Copyright, 1954, Publishers
Financial Bureau, Inc.

The new tax law will help everybody. It is the first complete revision of all the Federal tax laws which has taken place for many years.

One of the first things recognized is that we all should get easier tax treatment for misfortune. This includes everything from sickness and accident to business losses. Not only are allowances made for this year's hard luck, but we are also allowed to charge these losses against a greater number of previous years' gains. Limited child-care expenses for low-income parents are exempted.

You may deduct medical expenses above 3 per cent of income, instead of 5 per cent as at present. But you must remember that from now on you may only deduct sums spent for drugs and medicine above 1 per cent of your income. Mothers, or widowers, who must work to support children under 12 or other dependents, and any woman whose husband is incapacitated, or working couples with combined family income of less than $4500 may deduct up to $600 spent for child care. If you miss work because of an illness or an injury, you are entitled to tax exemption on payments made to you by your employer up to $100 a week. The exemption does not apply in the first seven days of an illness, unless you are hospitalized.

If you are a stockholder, you won't have to pay any tax at all on the first $50 of income in dividends. Furthermore, you can take 4 per cent of any dividend income above $50 and deduct that from your tax payment. Although the double taxation of dividends is wrong and dishonest, I do not feel so badly that the President's request was not fully granted, especially in the case of young people. Older people who cannot work and are wholly dependent upon dividends should have total relief, but not everyone. In fact, the discrimination should perhaps be by ages, rather than by the total dividends received, except when they are reinvested in the stock of the same company. You won't have the basic 20 per cent tax rate on the first $1200 of retirement income received after you pass 65. If you are a retired government employee such as a teacher, fireman, or policeman, you can get the benefit even though you're under 65. If you have a child who is under 19 or is in college and who has a job which pays him more than $600 a year, you can continue to list him as a dependent with a $600 exemption on your return if you pay half of his support. If your husband or wife dies, you may continue for two years to get the full benefit of income splitting by a joint return.

If you are a businessman or farmer, you may use the new double declining-balance method of quick depreciation on a quick depreciation of a plant or piece of equipment. This means that in the first years of life, you can write off twice the amount for depreciation now allowed; thus you can concentrate most of the write-off in the early years of use of the item. A corporation may get other relief, including: More liberal treatment for research expenditures; greater freedom to set aside surpluses; the right to offset a loss against profits of two prior years instead of one as now; greatly expanded depletion allowances for mining companies a cut-off date of April 1, 1955, for the 52 per cent corporation tax rate, when it automatically drops to 47 per cent. If you are a farmer putting a lot of money into soil rebuilding, you may deduct these outlays up to 25 per cent of your gross business income.

To help business, installment buying is being encouraged by allowing you to deduct the carrying charges on all such purchases. To help churches, hospitals, and colleges, we can deduct, as tax-exempt income, 30% of our contributions to such, instead of the former 20%. The main purpose of these new tax laws is to help struggling parents and struggling businessmen. Big business and the rich are benefited very little.

The date when we must file our returns is extended from March 15 to April 15. Furthermore, married couples filing joint returns and who have a

Septic Tanks Also Require Servicing

The Cook County Clean Streams Committee has reported several cases where the sewage disposal system for a single family residence is a menace to health and is contributing to stream pollution. In unincorporated areas, or in towns where sewers are not yet provided for outlying subdivisions, a home owner usually relies upon a septic tank to receive the sewage, and a system of drain tile which permits the liquid effluent to seep into the soil.

Upon investigation by the Cook County Health Department, it was found that in each case the seepage system had become so clogged with sludge that the effluent was flowing away over the ground surface. As a result, the health department has issued a new leaflet which tells how to maintain and care for a septic tank and tile field. It may be obtained free of charge by writing to their office at 737 South Wolcott Ave., Chicago 12.

Many people forget that such a sewage disposal system requires regular inspection and maintenance. Others have the mistaken notion that by adding some chemical, the system will take care of itself. There are no "magic cures" for septic tank troubles. Regardless of what some glib salesman may say, there are no chemicals or digesting yeasts capable of reducing the solids in a septic tank to a point where cleaning is unnecessary. Some are actually harmful. The U.S. Public Health Service has made exhaustive tests which prove this.

A septic tank, even when operating properly, merely removes the solids which will settle to the bottom or float to the top as scum. There is some decomposition through bacterial action but no yeast will start it or improve it. Nor should any so-called "cleaner" be used. Many of them contain Sodium Hydroxide (caustic soda). This chemical stops most of the digestive action by bacteria and causes the septic tank to rapidly fill up with sludge which then discharges into the seepage system where it clogs the porous oil. Sodium Hydroxide also destroys the texture of the soil around the seepage tile and makes it more impervious.

Experiments indicate that the soaps and other detergents ordinarily used in a home, and the back wash water from a water softener, do not interfere appreciable with the digestion in a septic tank.

To be safe, add nothing to a septic tank but inspect it at least once a year. Measure the depth of the scum on top, and of the solids which have settled to the bottom. When the total depth of scum and solids exceeds one-third of the liquid depth of the tank, it should be cleaned out by a scavenger. How often this must be done depends on the size of the tank and the daily flow of sewage from the home. More frequent cleaning will be required if a garbage grinder is used.

Otherwise the tank will eventually discharge solids into the distribution box and seepage system. Then the soil around the tile will become so clogged that the effluent from the tank can no longer seep away. Then the whole system must be dug up and replaced in another location. That is expensive.

POLLUTION VS. RECREATION

The citizens of Cook County are more fortunate than the people of any other metropolitan area in the United States. They own over 40,000 acres of forest preserves - a priceless asset for the recreation of this and future generations.

Water areas such as streams, lakes and sloughs are important for recreation. People like to fish. They like to go canoeing or boating. They like to picnic along the shores. Some like to just sit and look at water. Others like to watch the wildlife to be found there.

That is one reason why the Forest Preserve District holdings were purchased so that the major streams in Cook County, and some of the smaller creeks, flow thru or along forest preserve property for much of their length. Another reason was the fact that much of the woodlands in the county occurs in such stream valleys. The sad fact is that we have destroyed much of the recreational value of these streams by grossly polluting their waters with human sewage and industrial wastes.

There was a time, not so many years ago, when such fish as pickerel, black bass, bluegills and crappies were plentiful in these streams. The desirable fish have disappeared from most of them and only small numbers may be found in new locations. In many stretches of these rivers and creeks, not even carp and suckers can exist.

The stench and revolting appearance of the water in many portions of our streams is such that canoeing and boating, once a popular form of enjoyment, has disappeared. No one enjoys picnicking or lying in the shade along their banks.

We have seriously depreciated the value of our own public property by what amounts to criminal negligence. By polluting our waterways we are destroying our opportunities for the real recreation that only outdoor activities and enjoyment of nature can bring. By cleaning up our waters we could enrich our lives, and those of our children, manifold.

We American people are prone to flush our human wastes down the drain and forget that, somehow, they ultimately must be disposed of. The easy lazy way - and the worst way - is to let them flow into a convenient stream. People will pay for pavements, sidewalks, street lights and fire apparatus - improvements they can see - but are apathetic or hostile toward underground improvements and sewage treatment plants which are vitally important.

We have been kidding ourselves.

Surprises In Stores For Fall Shoppers

New styles and designs in all sorts of goods are on the way and will show up in the stores between now and Christmas, according to the Kiplinger Magazine.

Shoppers will be intrigued by even bigger screened TV sets, smaller radios, odorless paints, rug made of new synthetic fibers, more prepackaged meats and vegetables, brightly colored furniture.

Clothing styles for men are in a period of upheaval, with emphasis on dark suits and unconventional colors in ties, shirts, and sportswear.

New body and motor designs are scheduled for at least a half dozen cars.

Innovations ahead for the kitchen include electric frying pans which stew, braise and thaw frozen foods toasters equipped with thermostats to assure satisfactory toast no matter what kind of bread is used; copper-plated garbage pails; seven-pound vacuum cleaners which hand from the shoulder; and electric table ovens for potatoes, rolls, biscuits. A minor boom is expected in electric hot water cups - good for everything from brewing instant coffee to boiling eggs.

All this fresh merchandise is expected to put fire under slow-to-buy customers. Experts hope high volume of retail sales will guarantee that business conditions will be healthy through the winter.

Offer Information On Installation Of Septic Tanks

Septic tank systems for the disposal of sewage from home in some sections of the Chicago region have become a menace to health and are contributing to stream pollution. Anton J. Tomasek, chairman of the Cook County Clean Streams Committee, announces that surveys made by his committee and the county health department reveal that in many cases such systems have been installed in soils unsuitable for this type of sewage disposal. Others were poorly designed or improperly constructed. Most of them have been neglected and received little or no maintenance.

William N. Erickson, president of the county board, urges all prospective builders or purchasers of homes in areas where no community sewer systems are available, and where individual septic tanks are planned, to obtain Bulletin No. 1 issued free of charge by the Cook County Department of Public Health, 737 South Wolcott Ave., Chicago 12. It contains illustrations, complete information and specifications for wells, septic tanks and seepage systems to serve single family dwellings.

Owners of homes now provided with septic tanks and underground leaching systems may obtain Public Health Service Publication No. 73 by sending 15 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. Entitled, "Septic Tank Care," this leaflet contains valuable information about the proper care and maintenance of such installation.

Lewis I. Birdsall, an engineer and executive secretary of the clean streams committee, states that a septic tank and tile field, in soils with sufficient porosity to absorb the liquid effluent, can satisfactorily serve a single-family residence where no sewer system is accessible. "Provided," Birdsall stipulated, "it is properly located, well-designed, carefully constructed, and given adequate maintenance. An efficient septic tank merely retains the solid matter and provides what we call 'primary treatment'. The liquids are discharged into a drainage system of tile laid beneath the surface of the ground. The solids are decomposed by septic action and reduced to a much smaller volume. The liquid effluent is acted upon by soil bacteria which are present in the ground to a depth of approximately two feet. The accumulation of sludge in the tank should be removed every two years or oftener, by a scavenger."

The clean streams committee, at Erickson's suggestion, is preparing additional publicity to acquaint the public with the facts about septic tank systems and where they may be safely installed.

Water Pollution and Democracy in Action

There is no blueprint for community action. Every town is different, with different needs, resources, leaders and citizens. But there are a few general principles. A most important one is widespread public knowledge and understanding of the problem. Equally important is widespread participation. The more people who play an active part in planning and carrying out a project, the more certain it is that the project will succeed.

The problem of water pollution and its control is made to order for this kind of participation. Everybody has a stake in clean water. Most towns which have acted to stop pollution have included everybody in their program: adults and young people, leaders and just plain citizens, men's groups and women's groups. Each group has something to gain from clean waters, and each group has some special contribution to make.

Seeing is believing. Often seeing is also understanding. A trip downstream along a water course polluted by the sewage a town dumps into it, is often enough to convince anybody that the town should do something about it. A visit to a modern sewage treatment plant, where the superintendent will explain how it works, will show what can be done about pollution.

In most communities, projects for building a sewage treatment plant go thru several stages: getting the facts, planning, organizing and, above all, letting the people know all about it. All the people of the community should know what is going on, why sewage treatment is necessary here and now; how their money will be spent; what the benefits will be.

Trained engineers must plan the details of a sewage treatment plant. Other experts must help in deciding how the bills will be paid. In some communities a sanitary district must be organized and approved by referendum. Usually, a sewage treatment plant means a public vote on a bond issue. In any event, the people must know all about every step and it is them who must decide.

That is democracy in action.

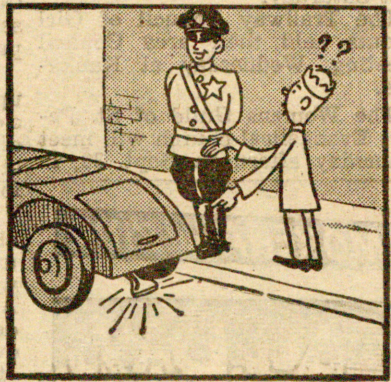

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Here is a tip to the Hot Rod Set. Be careful what kind of gadget you attach to the exhaust pipe of your car to change the sound made by the exhaust.

State law requires that your muffler be in good working order and in operation at all times, and adds that "no person shall use a muffler cutout, bypass or similar device upon a motor vehicle on a highway." (Section 116, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic.)

Some devices used to change the sound of exhaust are not illegal, ac-

According to state law. But remember, some local communities have ordinances of their own which do classify those gadgets as illegal, and the local police have full authority to enforce such ordinances. A device that may be perfectly legal in your own city may be illegal in a town 10 miles away.

Don't take a chance of having arrests, recorded on your driver control file in the Secretary of State's office through carelessness in your choice of equipment. Make sure the device is legal in every area you are likely to visit before using it.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

OIL WEED KILLERS PROVE HELPFUL TO MANY USERS
Farmers are not the only ones to benefit from herbicides (weed killers to most of us). Almost as soon as these powerful new chemicals came on the market, utility, railroad and highway people began using them to get rid of weeds and brush along the right-of-ways. Farmers also use it to combat vegetation along fences and ditches, as well as in their fields. The sprays—many containing petroleum derivatives, many mixed with fuel oil before application - are used to clean out brush as utility and pipe lines, highways and railroads are built; and to maintain an open right-of-way in succeeding years.

Living Witness

Lesson for September 26, 1954

"AGAINST the Stream" is the title of a recent book by Karl Barth. The title means to suggest that Christian living has to be against the stream of a great deal of what the world thinks and admires. Many people think that Christian faith simply helps a man to do better what everybody in the world wants to do. Men want success, money, power, prestige; and "being a Christian" helps one to get these things faster. No, that is not it. When Christ comes into a life, that life will not have the same aims as before. The Christian does not swim with the world-stream, only faster. He has to swim upstream.

Redeeming the World

What a Christian is and does, is determined both by the kind of world we see around us, and the kind of God we have above us and in us. If it were a different world, or a different God, our tasks would no doubt be different. As we look at the world, we can see two facts about it which are pretty unpleasant, but true. Poets and policemen know these things are true, even if a lot of us try to dodge the facts. One is: the world is flat and tasteless, especially (strange as it may seem) to the very persons who try their hardest to "get a kick" out of life. The other is: the world is decadent, which is a polite word for rotten. (The Bible word is corrupt, which means the same thing.) In such a world Christians are called on to be different.

Jesus' words about salt and light will always be remembered by Christians. They are expected to give taste and zest to a stale world; to keep a rotting world from decaying entirely. As light, they are to bring to the world what sunlight does to dark cold places. Christians are to share in God's work of redeeming the world, just by being different from the world, not merely different, like sand in the soup, but savingly different, like salt.

'God's Attack on Man'

A crank-sided philosopher once called Christianity God's "attack on man." That is both a long way from the truth, and close to it, depending on how you take it. It is a long way from the truth that God so loved the world that he gave his only Son; a long way from the prophet's saying that God desires not the death of the wicked, but rather that he shall turn from his way and live (Ezekiel 33:11). Christianity is all that happens when God comes to the rescue of man. On the other hand, there is something in man that God does have to attack. When a swimmer starts to drown, and the life-saver goes in after him, one of the first things the life-saver may have to do is to knock the fellow out. A drowning man will fight his rescuer and sometimes only a knock-out will save him. Now the world, that is to say the world outside of God, is a hostile world. It carries on a kind of war against God. It does not ask for help, it is proud, self-satisfied. It always associates God with what is unpleasant or cruel, such as death or disaster. God does have to attack man's pride, his self-satisfaction, his mental slandering of God himself. God does not need to be reconciled to man, but man does need to be reconciled to God. So the business of the Christian is to give testimony to this. As Paul puts it, the Christian is an ambassador for Christ, a messenger of reconciliation.

When Love Controls

So the Christian is expected to be a living witness, both in what he is and in what he says. Could a real Christian be perfectly content with being "saved" himself, without worrying over other people in the least? If ever there had been a generation of such self-centered "Christians," our religion would have died out. One thing is certain: as a witness, no one is convincing if his attitude to his lost contemporaries is one of scorn. The effective witness, in word or in life, comes from the heart moved by the same compassion that only Jesus fully had, and only he can inspire. The growing Christians, the contagious Christians, the witnessing Christians, have always been those who could say as Paul did: The love of Christ controls us.

Only Gas Cooking gives you any heat you want
From Simmer to Fry
GAS always lets you choose any heat you want.
Think of it this way: ranges having limited heats (5, or even 7) are like a car with limited, set speeds—letting you travel only 10, 40 or 60 miles an hour with no choice in between.
Not so, with flexible GAS. Whether you want a slow simmer, a quick boil, or any of hundreds of in-between shades of heat—you're the boss. GAS gives you your choice... any choice... with a mere twist of the burner control... instantly!
